Gary:

It has been more complicated monitoring the time of three subcontract managers instead of one. I am in contact with each of them and am directing them on what I need them to work on to complete this project. I will be more vigilant in review their hours as the come in. Tatiana is working on several items for me now and we are in contact. I also asked her to do a more descriptive comments. In the past I was in weekly or daily conversation with Phillip and had a very good idea on what he was working on and the reasonableness of his hours.

This is very troubling to me. How do I know that the previous and future hours are charged or will be charged correctly since I had to question the cost before it was determined it was charged incorrectly.

I just finished interviewing Tatiana. The 9.5 hours should have gone against her Home Business Unit. She is issuing a corrected time sheet and we will correct on this weeks 1900-55.
